12th August 2010

Next Vehicles have been dealing with Titan Internet for nearly 10 years. The business has grown significantly over the years and Titan has done a fantastic job in handling the growth of our business.

As a significant part of our business is from the internet it has been particularly important that we have a first class internet service provider who can provide immediate support and technical advice in an approachable manner and in a way that we understand.

I would like to thank Titan for all their support over the years and look forward to working together in the future.

Yours Sincerely

Julian Pearson
