Avantia Group

Avantia are specialists in home insurance, aiming to offer automated quotes via the web for 99% of customers seeking insurance, and often being able to offer quotes where other companies can't. This requires 24/7/365 availability for an application stack involving high-throughput ASP.Net and SQL transactions, handling tens of thousands of transactions per day. Titan Internet provide hosting services to support these applications and databases.

We were looking to overhaul our server infrastructure to reduce hosting and maintenance costs, increase scalability and performance, and provide better backup and disaster recovery options. Titan recommended a move to virtual servers, and provided expert advice and assistance in implementing a solution. Over a 3 month period we reduced our physical server footprint, achieved all of our objectives for scalability, performance, etc, while at the same time achieving a 10% reduction in costs

Titan's experience and expertise was invaluable during this period, guiding us at every stage of the process. Their effort and commitment during the migration process was also exceptional, and in many cases was above and beyond the call of duty!
